

Terms and conditions

1. The user by clicking "I Agree" hereby agrees that the material which the user is uploading is not plagiarised or is not in violation of any copyright.
2. The platform hereby reserves the right to take down the content from the platform if any report is received from anyone that the content is plagiarised or is in violation of any copyright.
3. The platform reserves right to provide all details of the uploader in possession of the platform to any lawful authority for investigation for any lawful purpose or to the reporting party for instituting any action within the scope of the law.
4. The platform reserves the right to take down the content from the platform after giving a due observations, if any report is received for any matter other than plagiarism or violation of copyright.
5. The user agrees that in case the material being uploaded is found to be plagiarised or violative of any copyright then the user and user himself or herself is only liable for any lawful action by any authority and the platform will not be liable for any such claim or liability.
6. The user hereby agrees that in case any liability, claim, costs or other legal action is face by the platform as a reason of plagiarism or violation of copyright or any other matter related to the material uploaded, then the user will indemnify the platform for all such liabilities, claims, costs and legal expenses.
7. The platform is not a guarantor of the originality of the content being uploaded rather it is just a platform for acting as a facilitator for introducing the buyer to the seller and vice versa and facilitating them to enter into a transaction.
8. The user agrees that the material uploaded is his own creation and is not violative to any law, is not opposed by the public policy, it does not create any defamation or disrespect to any person or religion. And in cases where the material is being found to result in any of the above then the platform is not liable for such act and the liability of any kind will be solely of the user.
9. The platform will have right to decide any matter between the uploader and the buyer and the decision of the platform will be final.